About me I am a self taught, motivated and passionate individual - a good communicator who is keen to learn and experience anything new.

I am a conceptual and original thinker who can work as part of a team or independently. I have worked for a wide range of clients and agencies in a variety of roles and have gained valuable experience running my own business.

My core skills are typography, illustration, and web design; programming, branding and graphic design; animation, art direction and photography. I am more comfortable in the digital environment but have overlapped and had a lot of experience offline too.
